Bureau of Quality Improvement Services

Anne Davis, Director of the Bureau of Quality Improvement Services (BQIS), has accepted a position with Goodwill Industries as the Senior Director of Education. Her last day with the Division of Disability and Rehabilitative Services (DDRS) is today. Anne is excited to more directly use her expertise in the field of Education and looks forward to continued opportunities to work with DDRS.

During her tenure with DDRS, Anne has been instrumental in enhancing and improving provider relations and communications. This is a critical element in ensuring quality services to our consumers. Additionally, Anne tirelessly worked to develop and launch a streamlined data-driven review process that will be invaluable as we move forward.

I want to thank Anne for her service and countless contributions to DDRS and our collective mission to ensure quality services to our consumers. DDRS wishes Anne the very best in her new role!

In the interim, please feel free to contact the following individuals in BQIS:

Bureau of Developmental Disabilities Services

The Bureau of Developmental Disabilities Services (BDDS) is excited to announce Britt Sutton as the new Policy Director. Britt recently graduated from Indiana University Robert H. McKinney School of Law with a concentration in Health Law. Throughout law school, she was the Leadership Education in Neurodevelopmental Disabilities (LEND) fellow at the Riley Child Development Center where she provided legal assistance to children with neurodevelopmental disabilities and their families. Prior to attending law school, Britt has had experience in working with individuals with disabilities as an ABA therapist.
